This is a test document for the Flask file analyzer application.

The application should be able to:

1. Upload and process text files

2. Use the Anthropic Claude API to analyze content

3. Return a summary with key takeaways

4. Handle custom prompts from users

This document contains information about web development, API integration, and file processing in Python